Reminder:
- Get your Husky Card (UW Bothell Student ID) at orientation or at Husky Hall, as it will also serve as your library card.
2. Your Student ID (Husky Card) is your Library Card

What's it for? Your 14-digit Library account number is encoded in the magnetic strip on the back of your card.

With your library card, you can:

- Check out materials: Present your card check out books, videos, laptop computers, or course reserves (or use many other Library services).
  - If you encounter any challenges in accessing our services, please visit the Information Commons Desk on the first floor of the Campus Library, present your UWB Student ID/Husky Card, and ask any staff person to verify that your account is ready for use.
- Print and photocopy with your UW Student ID/Husky Card. You can create a Husky Account online at https://www.hfs.washington.edu/, click on the “Husky Card” link, and add value using a MasterCard or Visa. You can also go to the add value machine on the first floor of the library and add cash. You will then be able to use your Husky Card to pay for printing and copying in the Library. You can also check your balance and track your purchases online.
  - Husky Cards with value on them can be used at the Common Grounds Coffee Shop in the UW2 Commons, at the Campus Bookstore, and the Cashier’s Office. There are also several locations on and around the Seattle campus where they can be used. (See https://hfs.uw.edu/Husky-Card-Services)
  - To print from your own laptop while on campus buy using the Dawg Prints program, visit the Dawg Prints website at http://f2.washington.edu/fm/c2/services/dawgprints/

3. Canvas: Use your UW NetID and Password

What's it for? Canvas is an integrated, online, course environment where students and faculty can communicate, share documents, course readings, and continue course activities outside of the classroom.

- Canvas located online at https://canvas.uw.edu
- Your instructors will prompt you to use Canvas later in class.
- The Canvas for Students guide is located online at https://www.uwb.edu/learningtech/canvas (Click on “For Students”)
